

AN URBAN CITY OF FLOWING MEMORIES

Known as Japan's City of Water, Osaka has abundant waterways that built the foundation for a thriving community and culture - Patina relates to water as the most elemental entity, the flow of life that connects and carries people and planet. It is also home to many gastronomical wonders, frequently referred to as the "belly" of Japan. Located directly across Osaka Castle, one of Japan's most prominent historic sites, and adjacent to the noteworthy Naniwanomiya-Ato Park, Patina Osaka is the first urban Patina property.
